DELAWARE INSURANCE DEPARTMENT HAS NEW PRODUCER LICENSING COMPUTER SYSTEM

Dover, DE. – Delaware Insurance Commissioner Donna Lee H. Williams announced today that the Delaware Insurance Department's Producer Licensing Section has converted to a new computer system called State Based Systems (SBS). "This new system will provide a more streamlined method of regulatory compliance by leveraging technology," said Commissioner Williams. With the automated approval checks and completeness checks, a faster application turnaround time will now be a reality. SBS is certified to meet ongoing national Uniformity initiatives of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC).

SBS allows the Producer Licensing Section to accept appointments, terminations, and non-resident electronic license applications through the National Insurance Producer Registry (NIPR). Delaware went live on NIPR on Friday, September 26th. Non-resident licensees may submit electronic Producer applications on-line at: www.licenseregistry.com. A fee of $75 for the license and a $10 transaction fee are required. Future enhancements to the SBS System will include electronic renewals and continuing education course reporting as well as other licensing services such as license amendments.

For more information about producer licensing and when future enhancement services will become available, please go to the Delaware Insurance Department's website at: www.state.de.us/inscom.
